PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE:

Our meet at Das Awkscht Fescht, Macungie PA was a success with 40 Falcons attending and excellent weather. With so many Falcon owners, flea marketing and crafts, there was something to do for everyone.

We held election of officers. Thank you for re-electing me as President of the Keystone Chapter. The new officers are listed on the preceding page, and the chapter thanks the outgoing officers for their service.

There are a number of events coming up during August listed on our events page. Our regional is September 13-14 at Valley Forge, King of Prussia, PA. Information for this show is found in this newsletter. Come out for the weekend or the day and enjoy our Regional at the Stouffer Hotel. Join us and have a good time.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE:

It was nice to be able to walk around at the Macungie meet this year without ponchos! Forty Falcons were there along with two guests who came from Canada with Fords and were placed in our class by the show personnel.

Hopefully this newsletter will reach you before the Coopersburg show. While not an "official" chapter meet, there is a class for Falcons.

The third annual regional meet is fast approaching. Send your registrations to Ed as soon as possible so that space can be allocated to the various classes. Other information about the regional appears throughout the newsletter. Since the regional is co-sponsored by three chapters, this is a good chance to see other Falcons and talk with their owners.

Have I called attention to a new chapter store item? Cobalt Blue Keystone Chapter coffee mugs. Limited supply- Get yours soon. Cost $4.

The next newsletter will be in October, Your ads, articles, etc. are welcome.

12 AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION OIL COOLER HOSE LEAKAGE

(1965 Falcon, Mustang, Fairlane and Ford - Automatic Transmission)

1965 Vehicles equipped with automatic transmissions may exhibit a problem of transmission fluid leakage at the oil cooler hose connections. The (7C332) hose material composition used in some cars is such that it prevents adequate retention of the hose to the oil cooler at the radiator and oil cooler tubes when the (379011-S) Keystone type clamp is used. This hose can be identified by a cloth braid type of external surface.

Vehicles built as of September 8, 1964, have this condition corrected with the use of a new hose with a smooth external surface and softer composition.

To correct vehicles in service that leak at the transmission oil cooler hoses, it will be necessary to replace the hoses and/or type of clamps used to attach the hoses to the oil cooler at the radiator and oil cooler tubes. If it is necessary to use the braided type hose, the (379012-S8) screw type clamp must be used.

The (379012-S8) screw type clamp should be used as a service replacement on all types of cooler hose material, in preference to the (379012-S) Keystone clamp, whenever it is necessary to service a cooler hose for any reason.

C3DZ-7C332-C oil cooler hose is the only hose approved for use as a service replacement on all cars with automatic transmission. Following are the lengths of hose applicable for each vehicle.

Transmission Oil
Cooler Hose Length	Vehicle Line
3-5/8 in.	Falcon-6 cylinder
6-1/4 in.	Falcon-8 cylinder
4 in.	Mustang- Fairlane- 6 cylinder
7-9/16 in.	Mustang- Fairlane- 8 cylinder
4 in.	Ford - All

The suggested labor time for this operation is:

Oper. SP-7332-A-65

Clamps - Remove and Install
