Hi Everyone!

Welcome to another addition of The Falcon Key. Looks like we are having actual spring-like weather this year. I'm loving it! I was just at my first car show of the year this past weekend. The best part was it was only 5 tenths of a mile from my house. You can't get much closer than that! Our first event of the year is coming up. Jeff Wied has put together an event at Crystal Cave in Kutztown. The date is Saturday May 21st. After that the AACA Museum in Hershey is having a show on Saturday June 25th. More details on both of these events can be found in the newsletter. In regards to the AACA show in Hershey it would be nice if we could meet up and drive in to the show together. More details to come in an e-mail or phone call closer to time.

On another note, Kevin and Lauren would like to step down from doing the newsletter. That being said please contact one of the officers if you would be interested in putting together the chapter newsletter. It's not that hard and you will have support from Kevin, Lauren and myself. Thank you Kevin and Lauren for the excellent job that you both have done with the newsletter.

That's all for now. In the meantime, Keep on Falconning!

Andy

From the Editors

Hello everyone. As Andy mentioned above Lauren and I approached the officers about stepping down as your newsletter editors. We have had a great time over the past few years creating The Falcon Key newsletter. We have also found great pride in receiving two Golden Quill Awards from Old Cars Weekly, and from all the positive feedback and support we have gotten from all of you. Our main reason for stepping down is that we feel we are doing the club a disservice, by not being able to attend more of the events to be able to write a more exciting and first hand account of them. When Lauren and I started we were attending most of the big events and could write about them. Since my father passed away last summer and we bought a new house up here we haven't been making the trips to PA/NJ that we use to. What we would love to see for the chapter is someone (or a couple) that attends some of the shows and can write a first hand account of the events. Lauren and I aren't going anywhere so we will be an email or phone call away to offer any assistance. You will have the freedom to make any kind of newsletter you want. This would be a great way to get involved if you are newer to the chapter. You get to meet and interact with some great people in our chapter, and make some friends from other chapters while you are interacting and sharing information with them. If you think you would like to give it a try feel free to contact Lauren and myself or any of the other chapter officers. Talk soon, Kevin & Lauren

The Toothpick

Column by: Don Snyder

Hypo wake up, wake up. Ok, ok, what are you yelling about Sprinter? It's almost noon and you are still sleeping. Sprinter, I was up late trying to get my hood open. Maybe if the Falcon guys see my engine, they may want to take me home and fix me. What is so important that you woke me up? Well Hypo, some falcon guys are in the yard roaming around. How do you know they are Falcon guys? I heard them talking, they are headed for a National show, apparently they were driving too fast and the tall thin guy with the white hair got several tickets from one of our finest. He is really pissed. Of course I did hear him say that he was going faster before the Police got him. Maybe today will be the day that someone buys us.

Look Hypo, here they come, they are looking at us. Sprinter, did you see that guy's eyes when he opened my hood? I thought they were going to pop out of his head. He looked at my serial number to find that I was a special build. I heard him say he had to have me. What about you Sprinter? Well, one of them believes he can fix me, he said he had a parts car at home and his wife would like me. I guess we will have to wait and see.

Several days later a roll back truck pulled into the salvage yard and drove over to where Hypo sat. The driver of the roll back got out of the truck and tilted the bed to load Hypo. I guess this is good bye Sprinter. I hope I will see you around. I guess so Hypo, but things aren't looking good for me. After the Rollback driver finished tying down Hypo he backed the truck over to Sprinter and extended the rear carrying bar and hooked up Sprinter to tow behind the Rollback. Hypo, I am going along, this is great. We can be together at the body shop. Yeah Sprinter, that will be great.

Upon arrival at the body shop Sprinter and Hypo were unloaded into their separate areas. The next day the workers began to strip Sprinter and Hypo. After the workers left for the day Hypo called to Sprinter. How are you doing Sprinter? Ok Hypo, it's kind of chilly without my interior and body parts. They even took my engine and transmission out. They put me on this thing so they can turn me upside down to work on me. How about you Hypo? Well they took off my parts like yours but then they had to straighten me out. They attached these chains to me and stretched me. It kind of hurt but I feel better now. I heard them talking and they are going to bead blast me I am not sure what that is, I have to wait and see. Well Sprinter I better get some rest for the big day tomorrow. Good night Sprinter. Good night Hypo.

Sprinter and Hypo continued to be the subjects of work day after day. Cutting, welding, bead blasting and painting, on and on day after day, the days turned into weeks and the weeks into months.

Following several months of work Sprinter and Hypo are brought back to their stalls. That night after everyone had left Hypo heard Sprinter calling him. Yeah, I'm here, how is it going Sprinter? Well Hypo, they cut large holes in my rear floor and then they welded humps where the holes were. They turned me upside down and welded a tube chassis under me. I was then flipped over and a roll cage was welded where my front seats and rear seats use to be. They had most of my parts powder coated or replaced. They installed disc brakes another steering box and a fuel tank with an electric pump in my trunk.

Enough about me, what about you Hypo? Well Sprinter they took me all apart and repainted every part or installed new if they could find them. The fellow had these NOS parts he apparently accumulated over the years. So I am old, but new at the same time. I have new carpeting, head liner and my seats have been re-done like when I came from the factory. In fact I look exactly the same as when I came from the factory. Tomorrow they are going to take me to the paint shop. Good luck at the paint shop Hypo. Thanks Sprinter I will talk to you another day.

What's in store for Sprinter and Hypo, will Hypo go back to his racing life style, will Sprinter be wooed by the ladies, will one or both become Trailer Queens only time will tell the fate these two Falcons.
